Steel Combine Magnates Only Agree to Sign Machinists' Proposed Scale.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.

PITTSBURGH (Pa.) July 11.—The labor conference at the Hotel Lincoln today failed to come to any agreement. Another conference will be held tomorrow. The object of the conference was the settlement of the strike ordered by the Amalgamated Association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers in the mills of the American Sheet Steel Company and in those of the American Steel Hoop Company. The conference had also another purpose in view, the prevention of a general strike in all the mills controlled by the United States Steel Corporation, one of two companies in whose mills the strike had been ordered being constituent companies of the great steel combine.

The tone on each side was amicable, and it was apparent that the manufacturers' representatives were prepared to do a long way to gain a peaceful solution of the existing difficulties.

THE CONFERENCE.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.

conference was called for 10 o'clock this morning, and an hour before that time the national officials of the Advisory Board, trustees and district vice-presidents of the Amalgamated Association met at their headquarters to outline their attitude before conferring with the representatives of the steel combine.

At this preliminary conference the entire ground was gone over, and the campaign of the day was mapped out. The meeting was behind closed doors, but when the members of the board filed out to join in the general conference, there was an air of confidence about them that presaged an early settlement and at terms they evidently considered reasonable for the workmen. President Shaffer said that if an adjustment was not reached he favored a continuance of the conference tomorrow and Saturday, but that the present conference must be final. Under no circumstances would he agree to a postponement for a week or more intervening between the meetings.

Shaffer said further that the Executive Committee was clothed with discretionary power with respect to the nature of the settlement, but the intimation was that no deviation whatever would be made from the original stand.

It was 10:26 o'clock a.m. when the conference opened. The combine conferees present at that time were

Warner Arms, vice-president of the American Tin Plate Company, Very Preston and J. W. Jenks of the American Sheet Steel Company and William Leeds of the American Sheet Steel Company.

The workers' organization was represented by the General Executive Board.

It is composed of the national officers and the presidents of the different districts, and this was the second time in the history of the association that it had been called together. The members of the committee are: President, T. J. Shaffer; secretary-treasurer, John Williams; assistant secretary, M. F. Tighe; business manager, Benjamin Davis;

assistant, John J. Pierce; Pittsburg,

"Resolved, That this association sorely reaffirms its former declaration in favor of the establishment by the national government of a national university, devoted not to collegiate, but to true university work."

Dr. N. M. Butler of New York moved that it be laid on the table. This movement was voted down overwhelmingly, and the original resolution adopted.

The report of the Committee on Non-Institutions which named Dr. William M.
Boardman of Iona College for President and C. W. Morris of Hartford, Conn., for treasurer, was adopted and Dr.
Boardsen was led to the platform,
where he made a brief talk.

"All for one and one for all," he said, would be his sentiment as president of the association.

The intense interest among educators on the question of teaching economics in the public-school systems of the country was reflected in the attention upon this morning's session.

The Light Guard Armory was very close when President Green called the session to order, there were 3000 teachers present.

Talking extemporaneously, Prof.
George E. Vincent of the University of Chicago, who had given a most successfully-applauded address on "Social Science and the Curriculum."

All subjects in the present curriculum, particularly literature, lend themselves to the social point of view, said Prof. Vincent, and announced that he did not want another subject added to the curriculum. Using apt illustrations, he showed how all the present studies can be socialized. He urged upon the teachers the necessity and benefits of co-operation of the student acquires while gaining that knowledge.

"Our work on zoology, we study
the structure and life of animal forms, and if my classes fail to see that the knowledge of the animal forms is as important as the knowledge of the animal forms themselves, then we have failed in our purpose," he said. "Economics is a very important study with history, and is even better as a mental training."

A paper on "Teaching as a Social and Economic Power," by Reuben Post Hill of Louisville, was the last one of the meeting.

VALUES OF ART.

The afternoon was occupied by meetings of twelve departments. In the Department of Art Education, Frederick W. Coburn of New York read the paper of the afternoon, "The Economic Value of Art Education," saying in part:

"In account of the industrial development of the United States art education is assuming an importance that could not deserve especial emphasis in this era. (1) The commercial studies dealing with the marketing of goods;
(2) the industrial studies which concern with the products of goods."

The time is favorable for art teachers to press the claims of their work upon economic grounds. People ought to know just what results are being achieved in the classroom, and can be shown that art education and manual training are not distinct, but conjoined in the lower grades, to be differentiated in the upper grades, and that art training in all the grades has a fundamental subject, and is not an addition to any other subject.

"Two classes of people ought to be appealed to constantly for cooperation and support: (1) Manufacturers; (2) professionals, artists, and art entertainers may be met with statistics indicating that public-school art education pays. It is for the interest of both the manufacturer and the artist that the teacher ought to be ready to impart whatever proper preparation has been made for it—for an appreciation of delights as well as of dollars.

BUSINESS EDUCATION.

Following the president's address in the Department of Business Education, I.
O. Crissy, Albany, N. Y., read the paper on "Business Education." He said in following paper on "What Constitutes
part:

"The term business education means in a broad sense, any and all education that will aid one in business, either planning and transacting it or in recording it. The term Business Education, therefore, includes everything that adds to its possessor's stock of knowledge, stimulates his faculty, or increases his thought power.
It also includes the means to help to develop the body and the senses. In this broader sense, the process of education begins in infancy and ends only with life itself. The same forces that mold the body and the schools, from the kindergarten to the university, or they may not include any of them. We find occasionally an individual, call him prodigies, who will, who has obtained his education for business and won what the world calls success, without the aid of the schools, and with almost every condition that can be conceived of against him.
But let none make the mistake of believing himself such a genius, and therefore able to make his way without the sound and systematic training of a school."

"What constitutes a business education depends very much upon the point of view. From that of the 'American business college,' which for more than half a century monopolized in this country, to the administration of education, it implies such training in the recording of business as will enable the student to obtain a position as junior book-keeper or clerk;
and that was the prevailing idea of a business education in America.

ent."

Bondholder's Judgment Given Effect.

MODESTO, July 11.—United States Marshals have arrived in Modesto this afternoon and served writs of mandate upon each of the directors of the Modesto Irrigation District commanding them to immediately levy an assessment against the judgment of George Hersey against the district rendered by United States Circuit Judge Morrow December last. The judgment is for $17,640, accrued interest on bonds of the district, costs and interest at legal rate from the time of judgment. Pending litigation the directors have made no tax levy for four years and all of the interest has been defaulted. The total amount is $191,900, on $80,000 worth of bonds sold.

Previous to March last, the directors, with the exception, were opposed to continuing the system, and pursued a policy of delay. The board now consists of three pro-irrigationists, and two who are opposed. The preliminary work of surveying the district has been arranged for, to arrive at an estimate of the cost of the completion of the system, which it is believed will be about $200,000. There remains $350,000 bonds not sold, which is available for completion; but the funds are exhausted. Volunteer subscriptions have been made amounting to $150, to make up what may be required.

SACRAMENTO, July 11.—The State Capitol Commissioners today dismissed State Gardener M. H. Dunn, and appointed J. C. Scroggs, a gardener in the Capitol grounds, in his place.

The State Capitol Commissioners adopted resolutions, introduced by Gov. Gage, declaring that Dunn was guilty of dishonest acts; that he accepted bribes from various parties. It is said Dunn had got several thousands of dollars by compelling people to pay tribute to him.

The resolutions adopted by the commissioners call upon the Attorney-General to prosecute Dunn.

TACOMA (Wash.) July 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Dr. William Gannett, head of the government's forest department, is investigating the work of lumbermen in this State. He says:

"There is in the State of Washington, at a close estimate, about two hundred billion feet of merchantable timber. Ten years ago you were cutting at the rate of one billion feet a year. Since that time there has been a very large increase in the cut, and we are cutting over two billion a year. There is about this amount of timber in Oregon, but the State has not yet cut enough to show that the water facilities are here than they are in Oregon. However, with increased railway facilities now being given Oregon, the annual cut there will increase from time on."

"According to these figures, you would say that the available timber in Washington, provided there is no destruction by fire, would last 100 years. This is not the case. There will be a very rapid increase in the cut. Of course, on the other hand, there will be an entirely new growth in fast time, if proper care is taken, but the time has come in Eastern States when they must look to the Pacific Coast for their lumber. Every year all shipments will increase, and the cut will do the same to an enormous extent. Therefore, while I do not wish to be understood as being a crank on the subject, there is danger, if proper precautions are not taken, that in fifty years there will be a shortage of timber in this State and Oregon. If that comes the people of this section will be just as bad off as they are in the Western States at the present day. They will be sorry they allowed so much good timber to go to waste. On the other hand, if timber is cut with a view to future crops, there will never be a shortage of lumber on this coast."

SEGEROW AT LIBERTY.

AUTHORITIES DIDN'T ACT.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—The Supreme Court issued a writ of habeas corpus today for Fred Begerow, the Santa Clara deputy sheriff, who shot dead Joseph Cech and August Begerow at a brewer's picnic one year ago. Begerow won his freedom through action of the authorities to institute further action within sixty days after disagreement of the trial jury. In five consecutive trials juries had to convict the alleged murderer, but it was not apparent that the litigation would bring the affair to a settlement. The decision of court practically amounts to an acquittal, although it is possible his charges may be brought against him again.

He was held in San Francisco, Cech and August Begerow after some vigorous language on their part. Begerow was in the hospital, and the business houses were closed all night without fire.

SAN JOSE, July 11.—Two deputy sheriffs and a half-dozen Chinese men, who had been keeping vigil beside an island in the Chinese cemetery, in which the body of the dead man is being buried, attempted to arrest George Stevenson, a San Francisco, Cech and August Begerow after some vigorous language on their part. Begerow was in the hospital, and the business houses were closed all night without fire.

MONTEREY EXPRESS ACCIDENT.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

GILROY, July 11.—The south-bound Monterey express this evening struck and instantly killed Miss May Ladd, the ten-year-old daughter of J. M. Ladd, who resides three miles northeast of town. The girl was in a cart drawn to town and the sight of the train was obscured by an orchard on the side of the road. The accident happened just outside the Hot Springs, the crossing of the Hot Springs road. The girl was horribly mangled, a section of the skull being detached. Her body was found in a cattle guard when the train backed up to recover the remains. The engine was covered with blood when it entered the depot. The parents of the dead girl came here six months ago from Lake county.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) July 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A trust deed has been filed in Phoenix, transferring from the Water Company to the American Trust and Savings Bank of Chicago, the property of the company, including forty miles of irrigation ditches, an incomplete 210-foot dam across the Gila River, water rights, privileges, and water rights on property totaling 80,000 acres of land. The corporation named is $50,000.

The property conveyed is the same upon which the Greenhut Bros. of Phoenix spent over $1,000,000 eight years ago. More than $1,500,000 had been invested in the enterprise, and water had been turned into the canal when the newly-constructed conversion dam was made secure for a quarter of a million dollars.

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—The preparations for the great Epworth League Convention to be held at Mechanics' Pavilion next week, are well under way. The decoration and equipment of the hall, which is to be used for the convention, has been fully planned and in a large measure already carried into effect.

The great Stanford organ is now in place. The local section of the choir, which is being drilled for the convention, will meet for rehearsal at the pavilion tomorrow night, when the organ will be heard for the first time. It is expected that 2000 voices will be heard in the chorus. The committee, which is in charge of the arrangements for the convention, moved into the pavilion today.

Two large delegations of leaguers arrived today. At noon the first section of the overland trail, known as the "Old Mormon Trail," arrived from Davenport, Iowa. The train following later in the afternoon carried nearly five hundred people from St. Louis, Chicago and St. Paul. Latest reports show that 1000 people have come from each of the Rocky Mountains.

The Finance Committee reported today that nearly $10,000 had been contributed to the convention. This is considered a small figure, as it is estimated that 2000 will be necessary to meet all expenses. There will be nearly fifty thousand people at the big price was paid for the land.

PACIFIC MAIL STEAMER NEWPORT REPORTS DAMAGE AT OCOS AND CHAMPERICO.

TORRENTS OF RAIN FELL.

BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The great hurricane that raged along the Guatemalan coast from June 23 to June 30 was responsible for the tardy arrival of the Pacific Mail steamer Newport from Panama and way ports. The Newport was at Ocos when the circular storm set in from the southwest. Huge seas broke over the steamer's bow. Old residents said it was the worst storm they ever knew. Many houses on the beach were swept away. At Champerico the water washed into the customhouse, and a score of houses were unroofed. Many launches and lighters were swamped and sunk.

At Champerico the Newport lost her anchor and thirty fathoms of chain, and was forced to put to sea for safety. The Chilean steamer Imperial was swamped by tremendous waves and also had to go to sea to avoid disaster. Torrents of rain fell, and great damage was done to crops all along the coast.

DELEGATES AT SALT LAKE.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SALT LAKE (Utah) July 11.—Epworth League delegates from all over the country have arrived at Salt Lake today and the hundreds on their way to the annual convention in San Francisco next week.

The Rio Grande Western alone brought in seven big special trains each with excursion cars. In the four days the road will be crowded with nearly fifty special trains to accommodate the enormous west-bound traffic. A majority of the excursionists are stopping over in Salt Lake. Today Leaguers were nearly all from New York and New England.

Tomorrow the Pennsylvanians will arrive, and Saturday thousands from New York, New Jersey, Indiana, Wisconsin, Kansas and Colorado. Heavy contingents from Chicago will come in. The special trains are being met by committees, and special programmes for their entertainment are being arranged at the Tabernacle and other points of interest.

WASHINGTON, July 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Work has not been started on any of the six armored cruisers of the Pennsylvania class, with the single exception of the "Columbus." The Cramps are building, and only 2 per cent. was done on that vessel. The Union Iron Works of San Francisco has been shut down on account of the strike. The Newport News Company has also suffered on account of the trouble with the machinists, and only 2 per cent. of work has since been done on the monitors "Oregon" and "Illinois," which has been nearly completed, and 2 per cent. on the battleship "Missouri," 20 per cent. toward completion.

Work has not been begun on the battleship "Virginia," armored cruiser "West Virginia" and Maryland, and protected cruiser Charleston at Newport News ship yards, and only 3 per cent. of work has been done on the monitor "Arkansas." Work on the majority of the torpedo-boat destroyers and torpedo boats is at a standstill, with some of them 98 or 99 per cent. completed.

DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES

WASHINGTON, July 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Considerable adverse criticism has been excited by the positive statement that Admiral Crowninshield, chief of the Navigation Bureau, is to be given command of the European station next spring. Admiral Crowninshield has been unfortunate in making unpopular rulings, and has suffered, in the opinion of many, for his strong friendship for Admiral Sampson. He is one of the bitterest opponents of Admiral Schley, and is a type, par excellence, of bureaucracy. The suggestion that the European station is being re-established principally to give him command when he becomes an admiral next spring after retirement of Admirals Schley, Sampson, Cromwell and Farquhar, is bringing out strong adverse comment.

SCHROEDER'S LATEST.

DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES

WASHINGTON, July 11.—The Navy Department has taken action on the case of Captain Schröder, who has been critical of the United States marines at Guam since Assistant Secretary Houghton wrote him a letter of inquiry about two weeks ago concerning the proclamation he had issued.

In this connection, the Navy Department today gave out an order issued by the Governor on May 14 supplementing his original order in the opinion of officials, mitigating the reflection on the marines, as follows:

The commandant of this station is congratulated upon the promptness with which, in less than two days, evidence was adduced that the American forces had been the discoverers of the perpetrators of a theft of private property alluded to in Naval Station Order No. 4. This confirms the belief that members of an honorable profession do not wish to have their names in their midst. It is hoped that American manhood will continue to assert itself, and refuse to permit the reputation and privileges of all to suffer in order to screen a few criminals who do not deserve much leniency."

PECULIAR REVERSAL OF POSITIONS APPARENT IN REGARD TO INDEMNITY—INCREASE DEMANDED BY THE MIKADO'S GOVERNMENT BECAUSE OF ACTUAL MONEY EXPENDED.

DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES

WASHINGTON, July 11.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Japan's purpose to increase her indemnity demand so she may be entirely reimbursed for her expenditures in China has met with decided opposition from European governments. This opposition is not participated by the United States. On the other hand, this government, despite Japan's popular move with apparent success, submitted a very modest claim, amounting to $2,000,000, when it became apparent that the powers would accept bonds from China in satisfaction of their claims. Japan announced that she could not sell her own bonds at par, and consequently, when her claim was rejected, money expended by the United States.

MIXED FIGHT AT FRESNO.

FRESNO, July 11.—The contest between the carpenters and bricklayers' unions and fourteen of the principal contractors of Fresno is on in full force. The dispute is over a host of wages and recognition of the Federated Trades Council. The contractors met tonight and resolved to hold out to the bitter end. Practically all building operations have been stopped. The trades unions have declared a boycott. Some firms and contractors, and may boycott the seeded raisins of one packing-house that has been declared "unsafe."

GRAIN HANDLERS AT WORK.

STOCKTON STRIKE OVER.

STOCKTON, July 11.—The strike of the grain handlers is practically over, and today the union men are returning to work. It was conceded last evening on the part of the strikers that the strike would be declared off today, the men having been advised by State President C. D. Rogers of the Federation of Labor to go back to work.

A conference was held this morning shortly before noon between the strikers and the warehouse owners, at which an agreement was reached satisfactory to all concerned. The men who had declared a boycott, and provided they would be taken back without prejudice on the part of the warehousemen, and they also agreed to recede from their demand that only union men be employed by the warehousemen.

The men who had declared a boycott, and provided they would be taken back without prejudice on the part of the warehousemen, and they also agreed to recede from their demand that only union men be employed by the warehousemen.

On their part, the warehousemen agreed to pay the scale of wages demanded by the union—30 cents an hour for regular time and 40 cents an hour for overtime. Formerly the men were paid cents an hour, with nothing extra for overtime.

The warehousemen state that they could easily have recruited their forces up to the full quota this morning from the non-union men—Stanford and State Normal students. Stanford and Normal students who applied for work, but were satisfied that a settlement would be reached today, they kept the places for the union men.

It is figured out that at least $500 a day was swept out of circulation by the strike while it lasted.

PUPILS WERE KILLED.

FOUGHT WITH MISSIONARIES.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.

BERLIN, July 11.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Cologne Gazette published a dispatch from Seoul, Korea, dated July 6, saying that bodily conflicts, extending over a period of four months, have occurred on the Island of Quelpart, between Roman Catholic missionaries and their pupils, and the pupils are reported to have been killed during the encounter.

The Governor of Quelpart, according to the dispatch, saw the terrible result of the pupils and arose from their support of the tax collectors in levying illegal taxes upon the natives. Upon hearing that two French missionaries had been killed on French land, a French woman was sent to Quelpart. Upon finding the missionaries in question alive, the warship returned.

The Korean government has condemned both Juan and American-American court official to investigate the matter, and is sending a company of Korean infantry with them to Quelpart. The Island is in the Yellow Sea, east of Korea, south of Korea, to which country it is subordinate. It is a penal settlement.

DISPOSED COURT ORDER.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.

YORK (Pa.), July 11.—In the County Court today Judge Stewart rendered his opinion in the contempt cases growing out of the molder's strike here in which George W. Test, representative of the Molders' Union of North America; John P. Frey of Worcester, Mass., fourth vice-president of the union, and Howard Wilmer, the local union's adjutant, were guilty of contempt of court in violating the court's injunction restraining them from picketing and otherwise interfering with the York Manufacturing Company.

The two men were sentenced to pay a fine of $250 and costs and undergo imprisonment for thirty days, and Wilmer was fined $25, which he paid but was released on bail, being unable to pay, to pay, were sent to jail.

Judge Stewart, in concluding his opinion, said:

"The York Manufacturing Company is entitled to enjoin picketing in chosen areas as they are and it may set fit to agree upon. Workmen have the right to contract with and work for whom they please upon such terms and conditions and for such pay as they may be willing to accept. That right cannot be taken away. They exist in the very nature of things, and are written in the Constitution of the State and any person who undertakes by force, menace or threat, to enslave individual thoughts in the softest language to violate or interrupt them, is guilty of a wrong and such conduct will be, and must be, restrained by the courts."

NEWPORT (R. I.) July 11.—The Columbia was today's race in fine shape, with the Constitution second, and the Independence a remarkable third. The Boston boat sailed an exciting race with the two Herreshoffs, and the Constitution at the outer mark, only to be beaten by her a little over two strokes on the rub to the finish before the wind died.

The result of today's race leaves the question of the supremacy of the three racing-boats uncertain, the Independence being not so slow, after all, while the Constitution has yet to prove her unquestioned superiority to the other two yachts in anything except very light winds.

The Columbia, on corrected time, beat the Constitution 4m. 37s., and Independence 4m. 41s. The Constitution beat the Independence on the corrected time for the course 2m. 1s., or, more than twice.

She was followed at once by the Columbia, and a little later, by the Independence. Both boats had been started with all sail set, including jib-topsails. The Boston boat was going along under three lower sails and club topsail. At this time it was decided to turn to leeward, so as to pass the Columbia a quarter of a mile, and a little to leeward, while the Columbia and a lead of the Independence was about as much. All three boats were then to the Narragansetts. The port tack.

The three yachts were back to back, the Independence with the two Herreshoffs and the Columbia with the lead of the Independence, and met the Columbia coming down on the port side from this point, some six miles ahead of the Columbia. The Columbia and a lead of the Independence was about as much. All three boats were then to the Narragansetts. The port tack.

"FREEDOM OF RIOT."

The Herald has at length discovered that there is such a thing in existence as a boycott—even a "malicious boycott." Nay, further, it admits that this particular boycott is "pernicious and seemingly indefensible." Upon hastening to glance over the editorial referred to, for the purpose of ascertaining, if possible, what instigated such a remarkable admission by our more or less esteemed but always time-serving contemporary, we discover that the boycott in question happens to be one that was started by employers of labor in San Francisco—not by members of labor unions. That, of course, is quite different.

According to the story, as published, the Butchers' Association of San Francisco has refused to furnish meat to any customer who recognizes trade unionism, and in pursuance of this policy has ceased furnishing meat to several restaurants which persist in displaying union cards.

Now, we have not investigated the facts of this case, and are, therefore, unprepared to give an opinion, off-hand, as to the rights or wrongs of the question at issue. It is quite possible that the Butchers' Association of San Francisco may have gone beyond the limit of justice and propriety in fighting against the dictation of labor unions, for, as we have previously observed, injustice and wrong are not entirely confined to those who labor, but are found sometimes among those who employ labor, although any unprejudiced and fair-minded man who has noted the disturbances between labor and capital that have occurred in this country during the past few years must surely admit that, in a vast majority of cases, it is the laboring people—or rather, we should say, the false guides of the laboring people—who have displayed unreason and injustice.

However this may be, it is somewhat singular that the Herald should fail to discover the fact that a boycott is "pernicious and indefensible" until such a boycott had been declared by those who have hitherto been regarded as the legitimate subjects of a boycott, namely, those who have invested capital and experience in productive enterprises. But then, there is an old saying to the effect that the worm will turn, and when one reflects upon the tyranny and insolence that have characterized the operations of labor unions in San Francisco during the past quarter of a century, it is scarcely to be wondered at that some of the employers may have been goaded into giving the labor unions a slight dose of their own medicine. In saying this, we repeat that we do not attempt either to apologize for or to defend the Butchers' Association of San Francisco, not having the full particulars at hand upon which to base a conclusive opinion.

The boycott is pernicious and indefensible, by whomsoever it may be utilized. It inevitably leads to bad blood, and usually leads to violence. What the natural outcome of this un-American practice is to be may be gathered from an editorial of the New York Times, reproduced in this number, in which comment is made upon a recent movement among labor unions in the East for the adoption of a rule forbidding members of the unions to join the National Guard. If this is not drifting dangerously near to treason and anarchy, then we would like to have some intelligent union man tell us what the labor unions would understand by those terms.

As the Times has said: "As to the boycott, it is so manifestly wrong and unwarranted that it becomes indefensible. It is an annoyance, an indignity and an outrage from which merchants and all citizens have a right to be protected by law. It is despotic, un-American and lawless, no matter what form it may take. The courts have pronounced against it over and over again. Good citizens will not resort to it unless it be done in ignorance of the law and the rights of their fellow-citizens. Labor disputes should and can be settled by better methods, and with great good to all concerned."

These were our sentiments ten years ago. They are our sentiments today. And we believe that they are shared by a very large majority of the people of the United States.

In the serious railway riot of 1894, when the American Railway Union was in insurrection against the government of the State and of the United States; when business was paralyzed over half the country; when lives and property were widely jeopardized and in many cases destroyed; when the country drifted toward anarchy until the strong arm of the national government under Grover Cleveland (to his honor be it said,) arrested the fatal trend, the widespread madness

"Uncle Tom's Cabin" has just been reproduced in Paris; the parts being sold in French. What rejoicing would take place in America if some of the so-called "Uncle Tom's Cabin" companies would also use the French language in murdering the play.

A popular Christian Endeavor song is, "Let a Little Sunshine in," but Cincinnati Endeavorers didn't have time to coast Old Sol to shed his blistering rays down upon them.

EDUCATIONAL FOLLY.

An article by Harold E. Gorst in the July number of Current Literature deals with the subject of modern educational methods. Mr. Gorst is evidently a plain, blunt man, for he doesn't mince matters in the least in expressing his opinion—which is not a favorable one—of the theory and practice of education as it is imparted in our schools. There is undoubtedly a vast amount of energy wasted, both by teachers and pupils, in the school work of today. And not only is energy wasted, but time also, which is often of even greater moment. In the attempts which have been made of late years to improve upon former methods of education, the school has been "evolved" to such a degree as to defeat, to a considerable extent, the primary purpose for which it was instituted and is maintained.

It is a debatable question whether the old-fashioned country school, with all its shortcomings, was not more efficient as an educational medium than the graded or grammar schools of today, with their machine methods, their fads, and their infinite reeling and unreeling of red tape. In the opinion of many intelligent educators, altogether too much is attempted in the common schools of today, with the result that comparatively little is accomplished, in comparison to that which might be accomplished if less ground were covered, or attempted to be covered.

M. Gorst's vigorous article is worth the reading of all parents. He says that American gentlemen all over the world don't know as this is true, but the average American young gent is quite remarkable on the stay, if the girl is willing and papa doesn't tie the dog loose.

FREEDOM OF RIOT.

[New York Times:] If there is any sort of the times which would give birth to a "man without a country" it is the pernicious custom of raising sufficient revenue to pay the expenses of the city, any reasonable suggestion for an increase of revenue is of interest. Here is one that may be worthy of consideration. It is suggested in a recent book written by Charles Mulford Robinson, on "The Improvement of Towns and Cities." In this, among other things, he suggests that billboards may be made a source of considerable revenue. They are, at the best, an unsightly nuisance, and it would be quite the correct thing to make them contribute handsomely to the revenue of a city which they deface.

In Europe—where they are so far behind us in everything, don't you know—they manage these things differently; and as some people would be goaded into giving the labor unions a slight dose of their own medicine. To fit their true character in the public mind to their own everlasting detriment. They lost in public patronage, but above all the public confidence and influence. They made nothing by kowtowing and catering to the mob.

Are we to see a repetition of these stupid and despicable journalistic tactics in Los Angeles in the year 1901? If so, The Times will again calmly watch the undoing of the blunders and weaklings.

POSSIBLE SOURCE OF REVENUE.

GREAT HARVEST.

Advices from Kansas say that the State is undergoing a terrific spell of exceedingly warm weather. Much of the corn has already been lost, and should the hot weather continue the corn crop of the State will amount to little.

Fortunately, however, for Kansas—no longer "bleeding Kansas," but blooming Kansas—that State is this year well able to afford a loss of this kind, which in an ordinary year would have assumed the character of a great calamity. Kansas farmers may this year lose their corn, and still be well off, for they have had a most remarkable harvest of wheat.

The harvesting of this immense crop has been attended by picturesque and peculiar features. The Kansas papers recently told how, when it became evident that there would be a great shortage in the labor market, men and women from the cities, tempted by offers of wages running from $2 to $3.50 per day, went out in crowds to work in the harvest fields, following the reapers and threshers from south to north, in the shape of a peaceful army. At one place a passenger train was held up by a band of farmers until they were given an opportunity to hire all the passengers in the immigrant car at the rate of $3.50 per day.

Uncle Tom's Cabin" has just been reproduced in Paris; the parts being sold in French. What rejoicing would take place in America if some of the so-called "Uncle Tom's Cabin" companies would also use the French language in murdering the play.

A popular Christian Endeavor song is, "Let a Little Sunshine in," but Cincinnati Endeavorers didn't have time to coast Old Sol to shed his blistering rays down upon them.

Neither Bryan nor any other calamity howler is likely to receive an overwhelming number of votes in Kansas at the next general election.

The Filipinos are surrendering in droves. The initial Fourth of July celebration was such a "buster" for those who have eyes "under the fig" that the balance of the crowd intend to be on hand for next year's blow-out.

St. Louis boasts of a husband beater from whom a man has just been divorced. Little by little the barriers over which men have held undisputed sway alone are being broken down and trampled upon by the fair sex.

That baptism of aged eggs and decayed vegetables which the Dowdites received must have given them the impression that the days of Elijah, when he was fed by the ravens, were once more upon them.

FRIDAY, JULY 12, 1901

HAI! HAI! HA! IT DIDN'T HURT.

Bob Burdette Talks to Tooth-pullers.

Says He's Somewhat of a Jawsmith, Too.

Closing Sessions of Dentists' State Convention—New Officers Elected.

Rev. Robert J. Burdette talked to the dentists last night at Blanchard's Hall.

He came clear over from Pasadena to do it.

It was a chance not to be lost. It is precious seldom you ever get a chance to get in repartee with the dentist. When he feels an idea coming, he looks a circuit tent made of his rubber hose, and when the dentist's trusty buzz saw cuts through the plaster, and is reasonably certain that he has the floor. But last night he yielded graciously to the inevitable.

Ordinarily a dentists' convention is not a topic to inspire eloquence, but Rev. Mr. Burdette made one of his funniest speeches.

Half the charm of what he says is the way he says it.

He has such a dry, Biblical way of talking. He hope alms through the air, he does not know whether he is right or not. He never got out more than a few words at a run, then he stands and looks at his hearers indulgently, forgivingly, perhaps, till they get over THE BURDETTEISM.

"Man that is born of woman, is of little hair and no teeth when he is born, and sometimes it would be money in his pocket if he had less of either," said Rev. Mr. Burdette.

"As for his teeth," he continued, "he hath recurring convulsions when he cuts them, successive toothaches so long as he hath them, and at the last one is coming through the gum tissue to the bone, and he underneath the afternoon land of his days, a human machine, having a mouth full of porcelain teeth built upon a plate that is constructed to hold raspberry seeds, so that the last state of that man is worse than the first." [Laughter and applause.]

"Even so if he shall stand up in the glory of old age and say, 'I am a true man,' he is condemned out of his own mouth for most criminal ingratitude. That last is his teeth. Happy is he if he passes the teeth that have the check—though not the nerve—thus to refresh him.

DISPLAY THEIR "FALSE."

"Much honored is any man to stand before this assembly; the representatives of a profession whose work, since the conventionalities of civilization have abolished the custom of scalping and skinning, is to make men look like the sunfish, your work marks only the smiling hours. The rest of us conceal our shortcomings; we hide our mistakes; we deny our infirmities; while you, in fearless, honest, frankness, show them off as your 'false.' This is indeed tooth in. [Laughter and groans.] I do not wonder that you groaned. The rest of us groan when it is tooth out.

TOOTHACHE AND POESY.

"Shakespeare—whose genius transmits mere human culture, could exalt the toothache and never lose a note of grandeur. In his words I glorify you, professor,

"Your desert speaks loud, and I am wrong in To lock it in the wards of covert bosom. When it deserves, with characters of brass, A forced residence against the tooth of time."

You see, Shakespeare evidently knew nothing about gold filling. That he did not know is shown by the internal evidence for that. He recognised his grandeur of anguish, its titanic potentiality of pain. He used it as a simile for the deepest and most distressing woes of human agony and despair.

"Shakespeare never treats the tooth-ache lightly nor irreverently, after the shallow fashion of the every-day humorist. Much, I say, about the tooth-aching, when poor old Leonidas is harnessed in an agony of grief and shame, bitter than death, in the wildness of his rage and suffering, spurning the sympathy of his friends, he cries:

"I will be flesh and blood, For there was never yet philosopher That could endure the toothache past."

However they have writ the style of gods.

And made a push at chance and sufferance."

"Shakespeare never repeats, therefore, when thrice he uses the tooth-ache, as a figure of the profoundest suffering, that can pierce mind and soul. We know with what reverence and greatness this immortal man would have dedicated the greatest work of his pen to the California State Dental Association. [Applause.]

HIGH-PRICED TEETH.

"Under the old Hebrew law, 'If a man pulleth out his servant's tooth, he shall let him go free for the tooth's sake,' that was the value of a single tooth—the whole man. [Laughter.]

DENTIST'S CROWN OF GOLD.

"Well may the dentist wear his crown of gold upon his patient's teeth; for right royal is he in pedigree and fame. Whatever he does he does sublimely. When he harpoons a hysterical youth to see if he is alive, he leaves no doubt in the mind of the parents that the art of the neighborhood, the day of the Recording Angel, that the nerve and the patient's organs of phonation are as much alive as they are ready out of tune.

"We admire him as a calm and great corrector of human evils as we view him putting a gold filling in Mr. Bryan's wisdom tooth, or filling the mouth of a preacher with a rubber dam—the only kind that preachers and dentists speak under contract. And that, too, is in keeping with the time, for theology of today is nothing if it be not elastic. [Laughter and applause.]

HUMAN REPAIR SHOP.

"If you bring a brand new piece of humanity to the dentist, a dimpled baby, with the gummy, toothless grin of an infant, he will wrinkle its downy visage, it avails not a professional interest in him. It is now new. By and by, when there are repairs to be made, the mother brings the little one to the high chair behind the screen, and applause."

NEW OFFICERS.

"If you bring a brand new piece of humanity to the dentist, a dimpled baby, with the gummy, toothless grin of an infant, he will wrinkle its downy visage, it avails not a professional interest in him. It is now new. By and by, when there are repairs to be made, the mother brings the little one to the high chair behind the screen, and applause."

Nature, and the physician, and the nurse, and the minister who christened the child, have all done their best. The little human machine has been fairly set on its ten-month-old track, and must go to the repair shop. The higher the civilization the greater the strain upon the machine. Something to be braced; something to be sounding; glue so good that it cannot be removed; civilization to be rebuked and nature to be corrected; and the dentist repairs and corrects the mistakes of nature and civilization, peaceably as he can, because if he fails, the mind of the world will be the most need of continuous repair. "We must in all honesty and the highest appreciation exalt the repair shop.

AMERICAN THE BEST.

"And of all dental repairers on earth, the American stands not only at the head of the highest class, but he stands alone—without competition outside of his own country. [Laughter.] The highest praise ever accorded to the American dentist we heard in the cities of Europe last year. Some repairs were necessary in the mills which for many months had been grinding the delicate steaks of Italy, and the stones upon which the French people are taught to call bread. [Laughter.] We found in a city of Switzerland a promising sign in blue and gold—'American Dentist.' The name was well known. We climbed the stairs hand in hand, and went along to a dentist's whispering words of encouragement and cheer to each other. We entered the sanctuary. A man, bearded to the eyes, saluted us. "Gentlemen, Do you speak English?" I asked. "Nein," he replied. "Nixie Deutsche." "Nixie weeden," I said, and we left. The American dentist waiting for customers who could speak German. [Laughter.]

SPEAKER SURPRISED.

"Much do I wonder, that I, who should have been the star subject at the clinic, should appear before this audience of practical men as an orator. For I am not a man in whom the dentists take delight, however much they may regard me as a curious and interesting study. I have no doubt that the thought which flashed through the dental mind as that speaker prefaced his talk, was that his audience would be a small one. [Laughter.]

BANKRUPTCY MUDDLE FULL OF KINKS.

CLOSING EVENTS.

The association adjourned to meet in San Francisco the second Tuesday in June, 1902.

In the evening the hall was well filled with people. An interesting programme was rendered, of which Mr. Edward Johnson was the feature.

Dr. Norman Bridger delivered an address on "The Dentist as Observed by the Physician."

"No man," he said, "has done more to honor our country than the American dentist. None here in Yankee ingenuity has better been shown. In no branch of science has the old world had more surprises."

He spoke highly of the splendid manner in which dentists universally observed the rules of propriety and of the services that have been done to science by dentists. But having suffered, he could not forbear a little slap.

A gentle man, the dentist," said he, "knows perfectly well that it is safe to hurt, but he don't tell you till you jump; then he says, 'Oh, did I hurt you?'

Today the members of the State association will be taken to the idea through the city by Los Angeles Dental School alumni and the Southern California Dental Association. On their return from the ride, the train will be taken to Terminal Island, where a banquet will be served at the Brighton Beach Hotel. It will be followed by an informal dance.

SAN LUIS OBISPO CASE BEFORE JUDGE WELLBORN.

Squall Raised Over Alleged Intimacy of Referee and Bar, and Six Thousand Dollars That is Missing—Creditors Taking Active Hand.

Trouble is gathering about the head of Referee Louis Lamay of the bankruptcy court of San Luis Obispo, and Attorneys Dorn & Green of the same place. Alleged intimacy of bench and bar raised the squall. Judge Wellborn of the United States District Court is now US 13, to decide what to do about it. Other factors in the tangle are Messrs. De Gortari and D. E. Ricketts, a bankruptcy firm of Los Angeles, and the officers of the trust firm, about $6000, which the Indians declare was stolen from them, but which the creditors swear with equal vehemence was fraudulently disposed of, and a series of affidavits on both sides charging and denying prejudice and bias.

When the litigants went up to the creditor, over $4000 had not been collected. Each successive man to whom I went, praying for more teeth, not only refused to give me that for which I asked, but took away at least one of the teeth I had. Oh, some of the more hopeful ones tried. [Laughter.]

MISFIT PLATES OR MOUTH.

"I have carried misfit plates in my pocket, where, as I moved about, I could hear them smacking and biting each other in opposition to me. [Laughter.] But gradually the dentist of united dentistry became unanimous. They laid all the blame upon me. They said my mouth was not made right. It would not fit any plate that human skill and dental science could devise, and that misfit was made first, and the plate should fit my mouth. They insisted, with many long and impressive words, that my mouth did not fit. [Laughter.]

"One or two cheerful practitioners offered to remove even tooth and left, saying they could do something for me if they started in with an entire outfit. But this was so much like building a new barrel around an old bungling that I hesitated. [Laughter.]

Riverside and San Bernardino Counties: News of Their Towns.

RIVERSIDE KNOCKERS AGAIN AT WORK

EFFORT TO PREVENT BUILDING OF NEW COUNTY JAIL.

Holmes-Frost Push Go Back on Their Own Recommendations as Grand Jurors—Jury in Liquor Case Disagreed—Health Pointers—Brevities.

RIVERSIDE. July 11.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] At a meeting of the Riverside Horticultural Club, held yesterday afternoon, a temporary switch-off from the discussion of horticultural affairs was made in favor of the following resolution should pass:

"Resolved, that the proposed action of the County Supervisors in expending large sums of public money against the general wishes of the taxpayers of the county, and without permitting an expression of public opinion by vote in a matter which entails a heavy and unnecessary burden upon every taxpayer, violates the essential principles of democratic government, and it is therefore hereby voted—"

"Resolved, that the public interests will, in our opinion, be adequately served by leasing necessary space for jail purposes, and that all further action be deferred until a more favorable season."

The resolution passed, and a committee headed by E. W. Holmes, was appointed to present the same to the Board of Supervisors.

This is one of the first open steps taken in organized movement to defeat the proposition to build a county jail on the block of land on South Main street, which the Supervisors have agreed to purchase.

A new jail may, or it may not, be the proper paper. There is not space to discuss that. But when the personality of the leaders of the anti-jail movement is considered, in connection with the way they have gone on record in bygone days, it is evident that the report is true.

The grand jury of 1898 reported that the public interest would be best served by having the new jail located on the hill above town, where the Supervisors have agreed to purchase.

We find that the jail of the city of Riverside is used for confining the county prisoners as well as those of the city, which condition has existed since the formation of the county, and that the same conditions prevail as have been reported by former grand juries. We most emphatically endorse the former reports upon this subject and again call the attention of the Supervisors to their personal liability in disregarding their plain duty in contravention of law under the plea of economy, and the lightening of the burden of the taxpayer. We recognize the fact that a wide variety of jail facilities, with separate wards for males and females, for condemned criminals, and those who have not yet been condemned, and for the separation of hardened criminals from young men and boys, who will be made worse by such associations, means taxation. We also recognize the fact that the taxpayer's duty to society demands a change in the jail facilities of the county."

The other members of that grand jury were: W. B. Johnson, Byron Andrus, W. C. Barth, H. F. Gergen, B. B. Bush, A. Compton, F. J. Fabre, M. W. Findley, C. F. Huie, G. D. Jones, E. F. Kingman, N. A. Kennedy, C. H. Lewis, Edward Lacy, H. A. Puls, J. M. Rhodes, H. K. Small, W. F. Walker.

E. W. Holmes, as a member of the grand jury of 1898, introduced the following, which was adopted and made a part of the report:

"The grand jury is well attuned for city purposes and cannot properly accommodate at the same time, the additional number contributed by the county. It is being poorly ventilated and lighted. The crowding causes a number of insanitary sanitary conditions. We, therefore, recommend that no time be lost in providing a suitable jail for county prisoners."

The other members of that grand jury were: James S. France, Julius A. Brown, E. A. Chase, C. R. Cook, Amos L. Crider, George A. Crosby, George D. Cunningham, Angelo Dunnigan, Martin E. Hall, John E. Kelly, William G. McVicar, William McLean, J. C. Nutting, E. H. Pierce, S. A. Stewart, G. M. Skinner, W. F. Warner.

An extract from the grand jury report of 1898 reads: "We cannot recommend (the jail) as a suitable place to keep the county prisoners, and we, therefore, recommend that the City Attorney, or his successor, take steps to provide a suitable jail for county prisoners."

The grand jury of 1898 reported that the public interest would be best served by having the new jail located on the hill above town, where the Supervisors have agreed to purchase.

"There are others, no doubt, who seek this climate before the disease is far advanced, and either recover or die. The fact that many of them live prolonged. Many make the mistake of thinking that if they can escape the eastern winter that no advantage is gained by spending the summer in Southern California, but our experience shows that the climate is even more to recommend it to the invalid, as well as the pleasure-seeker, who wishes to escape the moist heat of an eastern summer. Those who wish to bring up their children to a location where diphtheria is common to the East and Middle West are almost unknown will find a haven in Southern California. Not one case of cholera infantum has been reported during the year. This must surely in time, in Southern California in a proper light to those who are seeking freedom from the trials of anxious parents who have the comfort and well-being of their children at heart."

RIVERSIDE BREVITIES.

George F. Seger, the new Street Superintendent, was formally induced into office last evening. The bill had been approved, J. C. Hardman and G. Rouse qualifying as sureties, each in the sum of $1000. Past Street Superintendent Finch brought in refreshments and after the ceremony the Trustees were the guests of Mr. Seger.

Mrs. C. O. Akire entertained the "Merry Wives" and their husbands and a few other guests last evening at her home on Orange street.

Mrs. Inez Harkness, winner in the Enterprise teachers' voting competition, left this evening on a trip to the Buffalo Exposition.

Mrs. O. J. Kendal and children left today for Strawberry Valley, where they will spend the summer.

Mrs. R. Bauman and two daughters left this evening for Denver, where they will spend the summer.

Stalls at Pythian Hall. Refreshments were served and dancing was indulged in until a late hour.

The officers of Riverside Lodge, No. 35, Fraternal Brotherhood, were intral. They demands that a suitable jail be provided for county prisoners, and the law is on the books.

This jury also calls attention to the provisions of the Penal Code which stipulate that each county jail must contain a sufficient number of rooms to allow persons of several specified classes to be confined separately. That jury was made up as follows: Peter Milliken, J. T. Lawler, Arthur Mann, B. W. Doane, Ober Patty, José Jensen, E. D. Cover, Francisco Estudillo, J. M. Gómez, P. J. Hayes, Thomas J. S. Hetheran, G. H. Hannan, J. B. Huberty, P. S. Stoeckeler, L. S. Wilson, William Z. Helmer, J. Van de Grift and J. S. Burton. Of these, Messrs. Patty, Hayes and Van de Grift figure prominently in the present anti-jail movement. The officers of Riverside Lodge, No. 35, Fraternal Brotherhood, were in-

tral. They demands that a suitable jail be provided for county prisoners, and the law is on the books.

The grand jury of 1898 recommended that the county build a suitable jail. On this jury were G. D. Cunningham, G. M. Dickson, A. A. Alkire, J. A. Simms, George Ridell, C. S. Dinsmore, C. D. Ferguson, W. C. Richards, Carl Rudolph, W. E. Cullinan, S. C. F. Kinney, W. G. Mumford, J. C. Chambers, C. J. Rieger, Charles A. Huld and John Meherg.

JURY DISAGREED.

The jurors in the case of A. F. Melville, a restaurant man, who was on trial today in Recorder Stephen's court, on a charge of violating local liquor laws, came to a standing, and the court adjourned for a recess. The grand jury of 1898 recommended that the case be dismissed.

The members of that grand jury were: James S. France, Julius A. Brown, E. A. Chase, C. R. Cook, Amos L. Crider, George A. Crosby, George D. Cunningham, Angelo Dunnigan, Martin E. Hall, John E. Kelly, William G. McVicar, William McLean, J. C. Nutting, E. H. Pierce, S. A. Stewart, G. M. Skinner, W. F. Warner.

An extract from the grand jury report of 1898 reads: "We cannot recommend (the jail) as a suitable place to keep the county prisoners, and we, therefore, recommend that the City Attorney, or his successor, take steps to provide a suitable jail for county prisoners."

POINTERS ON HEALTH.

The report of city health officer isn't as usual thing very interesting.

But the annual report of Dr. J. G. Baird, which has just been submitted to the City Trustees, dwells on some truths that are worth reading. In speaking of the death rate he refers to the following: "In 1898 there were 100 deaths per 1000 inhabitants, and the average age of death was 40 years. The death rate in 1911 was 100 deaths per 1000 inhabitants, and the average age of death was 42 years."

Dr. Baird further says:

"There are others, no doubt, who seek this climate before the disease is far advanced, and either recover or die. The fact that many of them live prolonged. Many make the mistake of thinking that if they can escape the eastern winter that no advantage is gained by spending the summer in Southern California, but our experience shows that the climate is even more to recommend it to the invalid, as well as the pleasure-seeker, who wishes to escape the moist heat of an eastern summer. Those who wish to bring up their children to a location where diphtheria is common to the East and Middle West are almost unknown will find a haven in Southern California. Not one case of cholera infantum has been reported during the year. This must surely in time, in Southern California in a proper light to those who are seeking freedom from the trials of anxious parents who have the comfort and well-being of their children at heart."

ELECTRIC ROAD FRANCHISE.

SAN BERNARDINO. July 11.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.]

The San Bernardino Valley Company recently granted a franchise by A. C. Deppman, trustee, to the plaintiff in the suit, Mr. Volkan, to build and operate an electric road on E street from Third street to the south city limits; on Third street from E to D, north on D to Seventh, and east on Seventh to the City Cemetery.

Mr. Deppman's bid of $100, the only one submitted, was accepted and the money turned over to the city. The company already has a franchise on Third street east to E street, and will commence work on this portion of the line early in August. Mr. Deppman said, Then the bid will be extended toward Colton. It is stipulated in the franchise that the work of construction must commence within four months, and be completed and operated one year.

SUGAR MAKING BEGUN.

The sugar factory did not commence making sugar yesterday as was expected, and the great siren whistled not to summon the laborers to work until 6 o'clock today. The delay was occasioned by some slight changes required

after the start of the day before.

The gait struck is one-half capacity, but this will be gradually increased as the plant and machinery become better equipped.

The harvest is estimated at 11,500 acres or a tonnage of 137,000. These are figures given out by the Agricultural Department yesterday. Among the greatest cultivators of beets this season first comes the Western Sugar Corporation controlled by the Oxnarders.

It has an acreage of 16,000, which will bring an estimated tonnage of 22,000 beets.

Albert Maulhardt has 400 acres, and the Hill ranches 340 or 550 tons and 500 sacks of sugar.

So far the production of sugar in the beets has been very satisfactory. It has been running over 19 per cent, and bears out J. G. Hamilton's statement that this is the best adapted to the soil for beet cultivation. So far, also, no farmer has been receiving a less tonnage than he expected from his beets. Besides the growers in the immediate vicinity of the factory a carload a day is coming in from Sun-cross and Camarillo.

OIL SPRINKLER HERE.

The proposal for putting oil on the county road between Montalvo and Ventura has come to a standstill, and obligation will be permitted before the oil test will be made. The traffic will be forced to take the side of the road until the oil is put on the ground.

The sprinkler will hold twenty barrels.

It is applied to the road hot, and a scraper follows the sprinkler and thoroughly mixes the boiling oil with the sand and dust of the road.

The oil will be supplied by H. V. Van Allen, who has the contract.

Mr. J. T. Gabbert, county engineer, has the supervision of the work.

OXNARD BREVITIES.

MOTHERLESS ENGLISH BABE ON WAY TO PASADENA.

LITTLE WAIF NOW IN CHARGE OF SAN FRANCISCO POLICE.

Mrs. C. B. Henion to Give it a Home. Qualifying Rounds in Play by Byngton. Prosperous Condition of the Hospital—Brief News Notes.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, No. 209 Raymond Avenue, July 11.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] The family of Christine Peerless, a motherless English waif, motherless daughter of the British army, is being held at her headquarters, San Francisco, during transportation to Pasadena, where she is to be adopted by Mrs. C. Henion of No. 437 Elm avenue, child of Police Freeman of this city, met by telephone at noon to-morrow by Chief Sullivan of the San Francisco police that the child has been sent him by Miss Francis Moxley, who says she came from Lewiston, Idaho, and the child's clothing was pinned the following typewritten message:

"To whom it may concern: My name is Christine Peerless. I am going to live in Mrs. C. B. Henion, 437 Elm Avenue, Pasadena, Cal., who to me is a grandma. She will meet me at Los Angeles. She will know me by my name." Further particulars in regard to the waif are given in the following extract from the Associated Press dispatch from San Francisco:

"Miss Moxley presented herself at police headquarters today with the statement that she had no strange story that is being detailed under an investigation to be made. Miss Moxley arrived from the North this morning on the overnight train and says she lives in Lewiston, Idaho, where her brother is a physician. While talking with Mrs. Henion, the station matron at Portland, she says, a stylishly-dressed man approached and said that she had to send the child to Pasadena. Miss Moxley explained that she was going as far as San Francisco, and though the woman said that she had some relatives call for the child at the Arlington House, where the Moxley proposed stopping in this city.

The mysterious woman handed Miss Moxley and hurried away. She explained her action in apparent hope of getting away by taking a bicycle trip to the Yosemite. The boy arrived at their destination without any mishap and expect to go further north before returning.

J. A. Calhoun and wife of Fort Wayne Ind., arrived today and are at La Casa Grande.

E. H. Hull leaves Friday for a sojourn at the Balsa Club, Westminister.

Mrs. C. J. Willett and a party of friends expect to have soon for a Yomtov trip.

Mr. Freeman called on Mrs. Henion who obtained the following information:

The child was born in England, where her mother died recently. His father is still with the British Army and is supposed now to be with the Royal Engineers. He could not, or did not care for the child, and the little girl was brought to the United States by her aunt, who died a few weeks ago at Seattle. She is still finding a home for the motherless child, and among her neighbors in Seattle was a daughter of Mrs. Mrs. Not long ago Mrs. Henion received a letter from her daughter, giving facts in the case and saying the child was bright and worthy of trust. The child had been offered to the officers in the city, and will find some other means of support.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Temple, who are instructed that the child be furnished with a home, and that she would meet him in Los Angeles, and Chief Freeman, police officer, later that night, the San Francisco company would be responsible for transporting the child without a guardian, and the child can be placed in the care of the officers in the city, who will find some other means of support.

SANTA MONICA BREVIETIES.

An individual who gave his name as Charlie Wright, and who claims to have been born in Illinois, was arrested today on suspicion of possessing a stolen watch and revolver discovered in his hip pocket. After his arrest, and during that time, the wife alleges, Temple beat her on more than one occasion. The specific instance mentioned in the complaint occurred yesterday at 10:30 a.m. when Mr. H. G. Hutchinson, road master between Albuquerque and Gallup on the Santa Fe, was very severely injured. He was watching the steamer Aberdeen, which had just come off the schooner broken, letting fall a sledge with a heavy hoist of lumber, hurting three people. John Sampson and Joe Farol, employed in discharging the vessel, each had his left foot severely crushed. Robert Hutchinson, 14 years of age, and John G. Mysterious Shot.

Residents in the vicinity of Twentieth and Toberman streets were greatly excited at 11 o'clock last night when a shot was heard in a quiet place where L. H. Compot was shot Wednesday morning. The police were notified, and half a dozen officers were sent to the scene. They searched for the gun, but found none. They did, however, find a man who had been shot, but were unable to find who had done it. If any one was shot at the police could not find him. At least fifty people heard the report, and for an hour lights could be seen in many houses.

NEW PRESIDENT.

C. C. Reynolds at the Head of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association—Fighting License Tax.

C. C. Reynolds was yesterday elected president of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association, to succeed the late Robert L. Craig. George Arnott was elected first vice-president and J. W. Lynch second vice-president, while the vacancy in the board of directors was filled by the unanimous election of George A. Montgomery.

The association has been informed from reliable sources that the City Council proposes to pass an ordinance to replenish the depleted municipal coffers at the expense of the merchants. To raise $70,000 to be expended during this year, the municipality administration is proposed to introduce the license tax, such as has been in existence in San Francisco for many years, that city being the only one where the merchants were obliged to contribute for the privilege of doing business.

Similar ordinances have been declared unconstitutional all over the United States, and, according to a telegram in response to an inquiry by the association, San Francisco has abandoned the practice.

At yesterday's meeting of the directors of the association, to which several of the leading merchants were invited, it was decided to present the proposed action of the Council upon the ground that the license tax as proposed is unconstitutional and unjust to the city. It was decided, if any such measure is to the bitter end, if the case has to be taken to the United States Supreme Court. The secretary was instructed to take steps to call a meeting of all merchants whenever such a measure is introduced.

Merchants present declared themselves very emphatic against any measure that will put a special tax upon them.

BANK MET DEMANDS.

Nervous Depositor Misunderstood Why a Bank Ever Closed and Started a General Run at Cleveland, O.

BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—CLEVELAND (O.) July 11.—The run on the United Banking and Savings Company, which began yesterday, was continued today. The bank kept its doors open nearly all night, in order to permit any nervous depositors to withdraw their money. Today fully 200 men and women were lined up in front of the bank.

All demands were promptly met, and the officials declared they were prepared for any emergency. The run was started by a woman who called after banking hours to draw money. She was told to wait. Failing to understand however, she immediately went out and spread the report that the bank had no funds. The capital stock of the bank is $100,000. Its deposits amount to nearly $2,000,000.
